

Christine Phipps, RPR, LCR (TN/NJ), CLR, FPR
President-Elect of NCRA
North Palm Beach, Florida

Christine Phipps is a Registered Professional Reporter (RPR), and President of Phipps Reporting, Inc., based in North Palm Beach, Fla. She is also the current Vice President of the National Court Reporters Association. She received her associate's degree in court reporting from Broward State College, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and she worked as an official court reporter for the first two years of her career. She spent the next 15 years working internationally as a freelance realtime court reporter. Phipps is also an Eclipse Trainer, holds the Realtime Systems Administrator certificate, and has served as Chair of NCRA's Technology and Freelance Committees, as well as on numerous other committees. She participated in the rewrite of NCRA's Deposition Handbook, is a frequent contributor to the JCR, and has been a speaker at conventions.

After building relationships nationwide, Phipps opened her own court reporting and litigation support agency. She was awarded the 2014 Most Enterprising Woman of the Year, Game changer of the Year, and Small Business Woman-Owned Person of the Year. Her company also made the Inc. magazine's 5000 list every year since 2014, making her the first honorary member of the Inc. 5000 in our industry. She has received numerous other business awards including being featured on the cover of Wealth & Finance magazine.

She currently resides in Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., and has three children: Brandon, Jarrod and Skylar.
